The Fullerton Mayor's Prayer Breakfast is an annual event hosted by the Fullerton Prayer Breakfast Committee. This year's breakfast features special guest speaker, Michael Franzese, former New York mobster with the Colombo crime family who was heavily involved in the gasoline tax rackets in the 1980s. Since then, he has publicly renounced organized crime, become a devoted Christian, created the Breaking Out Foundation for helping youth, and become a motivational speaker. In addition to Fullerton Mayor Doug Chaffee, attendees include the Fullerton City Council, service personnel, and leading citizens of our community. It is modeled after the National Prayer Breakfast held in Washington, D.C.
