Dodgers, and the Mets. He is 1 of 26 players in Major League History to compile at least 500 stolen bases (558), and 2000 hits (2,375) for a career. Brett retired in 1997 with a lifetime batting average of .290. He continued in the game as he coached or managed in the Mets and Diamondbacks organization from 2003-2013. His last 2 years he was the 3rd base coach with the Marlins from 2014-2015. Brett wrote an autobiography titled "Field of Hope" that chronicles his major league career and his battle with cancer.
